

BLACK LIGHT

Ten Years of
First Nations Storytelling

Edited by Hannah Donnelly

BLACK
LIGHT

WELCOME TO COUNTRY

Warami Dharug Nurawa. Hello, good to see you on Dharug Country.

As is our way, we pay our deepest respects to elders past and present. We extend that respect to those who will fulfill those roles in the future and to the ancestors and people from all the lands, the eyes that read this, come from.

For those with budyari butbut/good heart and those with good intent, we prepare to welcome you to the unceded traditional lands, waters and skies of the sovereign Dharug yura/people. We honour our clans and acknowledge the relationships with our neighbouring First Nation people because connections are important. Our stories, like layers, interlaced together.

For Dharug yura, our lives, identities, belonging and being are intrinsically interconnected and woven into the fabric of this place, this ngurang. Our lore and practices, ceremonies, art, dance, flora, fauna, storying and dalang/language, are Dharug nura and Dharug nura is us. It is the embodiment of who we are. One entity, yet many. From the bulga to the garrigarrang, the mountains to the seas, this ngurang is a gift our people have lived in harmony with for tens of thousands of years. The creation of this ngurang is the bunarang, gumada yuu butbut, blood, spirit and heart of my Country and people.

In more traditional times, when we crossed into or reached another's nura, we would light a fire and wait to be approached to seek permission to be on or travel through their Country. If permission was granted, we would be welcomed to respectfully visit, walk on or pass through that nura. Hence where the modern Welcome to Country practice is derived from.

We have responsibilities and obligations to this beautiful nura we are privileged to call our home. The land, waters and skies of Dharug nura have nurtured and provided for us since creation. We are her children. We are as a people from the oldest continual living culture on earth.

As sovereign Dharug custodians we invite you to be present on our nura and walk well and true. Never take more than you need and be generous and humble in returning kindness, care, respect and understanding to our wiyanga bamal, our mother earth, for she is suffering. We ask you to tread gently and honour the thousands of ancestors who still yanama budyari gumada Dharug nurawa: walk in good spirit on Dharug Country and learn from the footprints they left, for they are the old ones, the most ancient of knowledge holders, healers, warriors and nurturers.

Ngara Dharug nurawa... think, hear and listen on Dharug Country. She has so much to teach you, to tell and share with you. She will welcome you, if you listen.

Dharug yura yuu gumada ngallawan. Warami Dharug nurawa, burra, yuu badu.

Dharug people and spirits live and remain. Welcome onto Dharug Country, skies and waters.

*Didjurigur, ngubadi marri,
Thank you and much love,*

JULIE BUKARI WEBB

BLACK LIGHT

Ten Years of
First Nations Storytelling

Edited by Hannah Donnelly

First published in 2022
by Sweatshop Literacy Movement Inc.
ACE (Arts & Cultural Exchange)
8 Victoria Road, Parramatta NSW
2150, Australia
www.sweatshop.ws

Text copyright © to the authors

Printed and bound by McPherson's
Printing Group
Cataloguing-in-Publication data is available from the National Library of Australia

ISBN 978-0-6454482-0-7 (paperback)

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted in any form or by any means electronic, mechanical, photocopying or otherwise without the prior permission of the publisher.
The moral rights of the authors have been asserted.

Design and typesetting by Diana Chamma 2022

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This anthology has been made possible thanks to the generous support of the Australian Government through the Australia Council, its arts funding and advisory body.

The programs and outcomes of this initiative have been developed by Sweatshop: Western Sydney Literacy Movement in partnership with Campbelltown City Library as part of the Campbelltown Youth Literacy Initiative for Diverse Writers. Proudly supported by the Crown Resorts Foundation and Packer Family Foundation. Sweatshop is also proudly supported by ACE (Arts & Cultural Exchange) and Diversity Arts Australia.

PRODUCTION TEAM

Editor: Hannah Donnelly

Sub-editor: Phoebe Grainer

Cover Artist: Emily Johnson

SPECIAL THANKS

Sweatshop Founding Director: Dr Michael Mohammed Ahmad

Sweatshop General Manager: Winnie Dunn

Sweatshop Creative Producer: Diana Chamma

FIRST THINGS FIRST

Blacklight is shining blackness over everything . . . some things are concealed unless you have the right frequencies to see them, but they are always there.

Sweatshop Literacy Movement was founded in 2012 as a self-determined grass roots organisation that would be devoted to empowering First Nations and culturally diverse communities through reading, writing and critical thinking. Since our inception, Sweatshop has produced a catalogue of anthologies featuring hundreds of writers and artists from schools, universities and writers' groups which celebrate literature, photography, visual art and graphic design produced entirely by artists from Aboriginal and non-English speaking backgrounds.

As we approached the ten-year anniversary of our movement, Sweatshop began to collate the data which charted our social impact on the Australian literary sector. This led to the discovery that across all of the publications we had ever published, 31% of the content was produced by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander writers and arts practitioners. The content included poems, short stories, essays and illustrations which were originally developed by First Nations children as young as twelve years old during one-off creative writing workshops, and by emerging First Nations artists over several months during our ongoing writers' group masterclasses, residencies and mentorships. The pieces developed ranged from one sentence long to a few thousand words.

In 2020, award-winning Wiradjuri writer and editor, Hannah Donnelly, joined Sweatshop as a Creative Producer. Over a period of twelve months, Hannah read through every previous Sweatshop publication; compiling a complete document of all the First Nations stories we had published to date. The short stories, poems, essays, vignettes and artworks in this anthology feature pieces from past Sweatshop anthologies such as The Big Black Thing: Chapter. 1 (2017), The Big Black Thing: Chapter. 2 (2018), Bent Not Broken (2018), This Little Red Thing (2019), Sweatshop Women: Volume One (2019), Sweatshop Women: Volume Two (2020) and Racism: Stories on Fear, Hate & Bigotry (2021). In addition to the content from these independently-produced publications, this anthology also features works that Sweatshop commissioned for anthologies in partnership with Seizure Literary Journal, such as Stories of Sydney (2014), and The Lifted Brow Quarterly Magazine (2017-2019).

To complement the works that Sweatshop has previously published, Blacklight also features eight original pieces from First Nations writers, as well as a Welcome to Country, which Hannah commissioned in 2020. The new artists appearing in Blacklight include:

Aunty Julie Bukari Webb: Dharug Knowledge Holder and cultural practitioner. Jasmine Seymour: Award-winning Dharug writer and member of the Dharug Custodian Aboriginal Corporation. Steven Lindsay Ross: Wemba Wemba, Muthi Muthi and Wiradjuri consultant, cultural producer and writer. Jazz Money: Award-winning Wiradjuri poet, filmmaker and educator. Ali Murphy-Oates: Wailwan woman living in Sydney; arts worker and emerging writer. Travis De Vries: Gamilaroi and Dharug podcaster and multi-disciplinary artist. Dr Jo Anne Rey: Dharug poet and Research Fellow with Macquarie University's Indigenous and Geography Departments. Yuin Mumbulla: Macquarie Fields High School student of Yaegl and Yuin ancestry. Maxine Edwards: Wiradjuri writer and community arts worker. In addition to these incredible writers, the powerful cover of Blacklight showcases the artwork of Barkindji, Wakka Wakka, Latjilatji and Biri Gubba visual artist, Emily Johnson.

Under Hannah Donnelly's leadership, the Blacklight initiative has resulted in a ground-breaking new anthology which illuminates the contemporary experiences of mob life and struggles, food, love and loss in Western Sydney and beyond. From future radical warriors, to the glory of El Jannah garlic sauce (if you know, you know), these stories cover the complex cultural boundaries and responsibilities that exist for First Nations people in the continued colonial occupation of the Country they live on and the Countries they are from. We hope these works speak to migrant and refugee communities as well, and trust that, together, we can grow in the dark.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

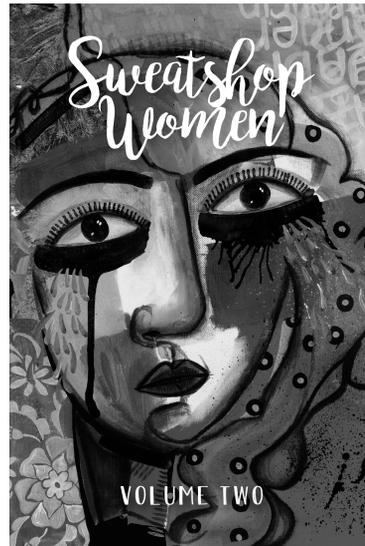

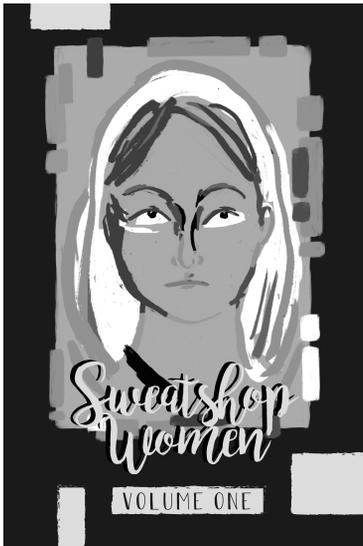

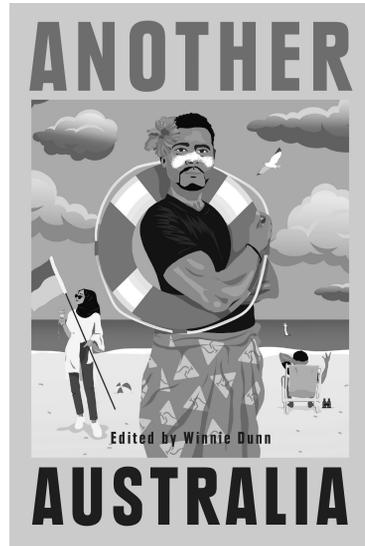

Jasmine Seymour Ngurrawa Nurawa	13
Steven Lindsay Ross Liminal [fragment of a dream]	16
Jazz Money how to make a basket	21
Ali Murphy-Oates Surf Pole	25
Travis De Vries First Scars	31
Dr Jo Anne Rey I Am, Because You Are	42
Yuin Mumbulla Macquarie Fields	43
Maxine Edwards Blak Joy	44
STORIES OF SYDNEY	47
Samantha Hogg Bankstown Hospital Vitriol	49
THE BIG BLACK THING: CHAPTERS 1&2	55
Tahlia Blacklock, Kiah Bolt and Mikayla Kumar These Three	57
Kane Harrington McHappy	58
Kiarna Evans Clear Cut Skies	59

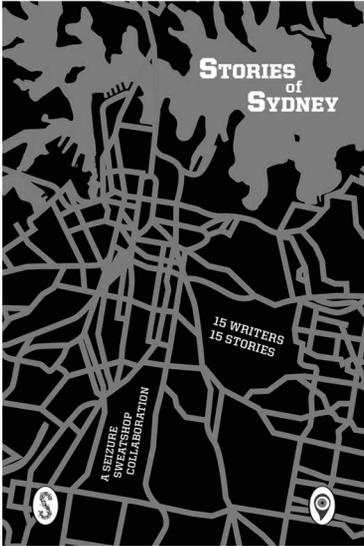

Mark Streeter Life Out Here	61
Courtney Miller Motherhood	63
Hamani Tanginoa Every Teenager	64
Adina Aslett-Robertson A Memory	65
Shanae Hajsinger Unicorn	66
Taylah Hansen Sorry	67
Kane Harrington Thirteen Ways of Looking at a Pen	68
Tyreice Peachey Bad Things	70
Brandon Gale [-o-]	71
Marko Bogic Warragamba Bush	72
Trinity Wensley Half Step	73
Dominic Mills Kapooka	74
Kasey Weightman Fractured	75
Trenton Fynn Snakes n Durries	76
Samantha Snedden Chicken Wing	77

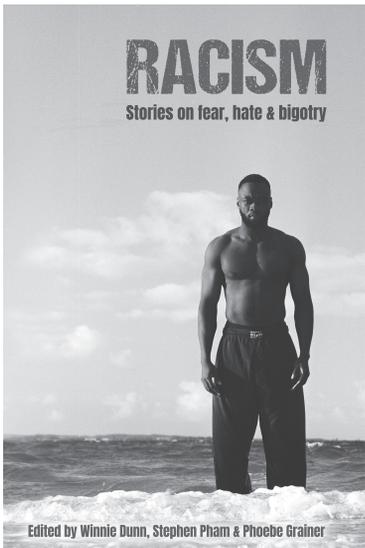

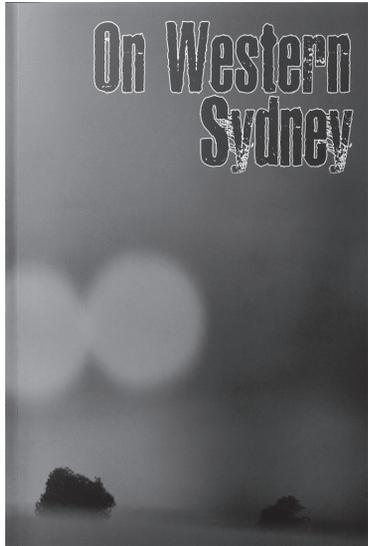

Teliah Edwards Humble Sauce	79
Riley Kefford Naked	81
Lachlan Holmes Penrith Panthers 4 Life	83
Jamil Janif Being	84
Chelsea Randell Moments I Took For Granted	85
Mikayla Kumar Groggy	86
Colt Currell Small Things We Do	87
Hayley Laws Boat and Universe	89
Harrison Randell Real Nightmare	90
Caitlyn Laws No Violence	91
Isaac Miller Ride 4 You	93
Emma Hicks Conversations: feathers, quandongs and tracks	95
BENT NOT BROKEN	103
Anneliese Joy Ngulangayn: Georges Hall — My Home: Georges Hall	105
SWEATSHOP WOMEN: VOLUMES 1&2	107

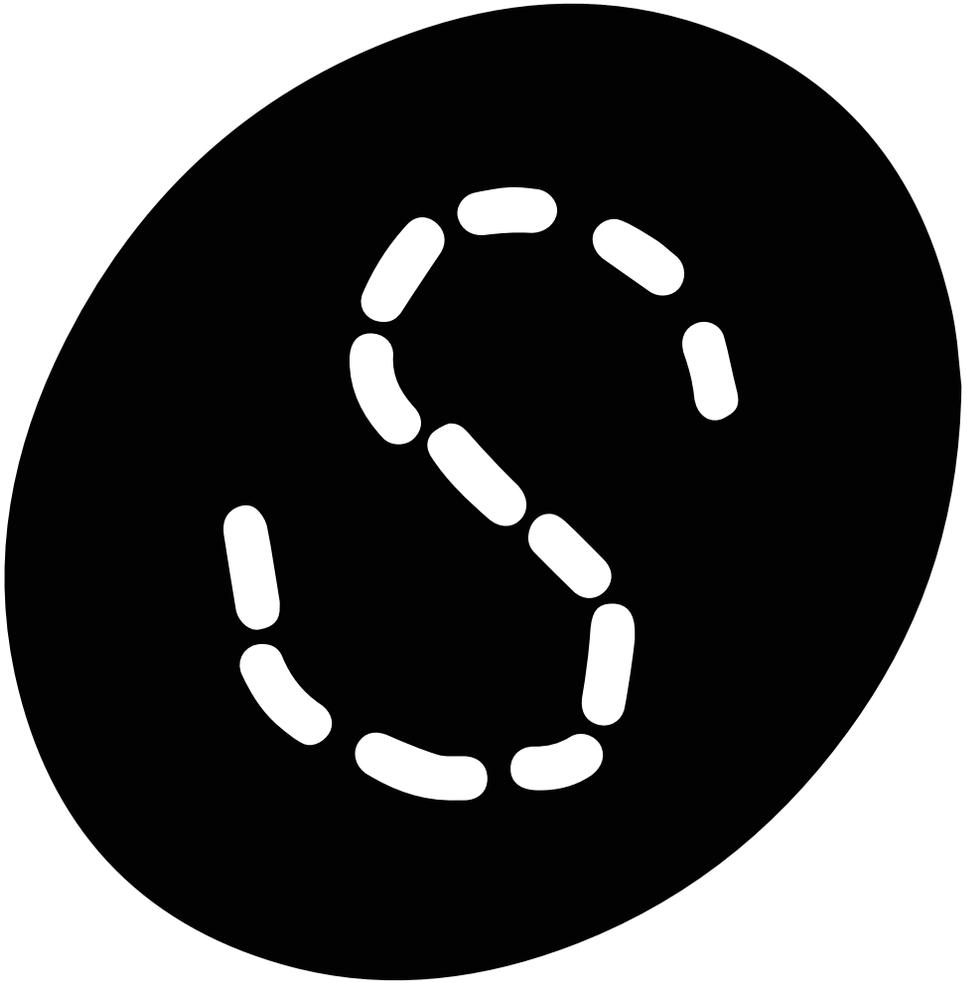

Phoebe Grainer Boragee	109
Phoebe Grainer Gnum Gnum	110
THIS LITTLE RED THING	113
Afeni Tabuai-Salee Blacker Than Night	115
RACISM: STORIES ON FEAR, HATE & BIGOTRY	117
Riley Ingersole Just Broken	119
Maxine Edwards Proximity to Blakness	121
THE LIFTED BROW	125
Emma Hicks Collection	127
Phoebe Grainer Each Rock Must Not Be Taken	133

MORE FROM SWEATSHOP

WWW.SWEATSHOP.WS

LOVE HOPE LOSS HOME

Blacklight: Ten Years of First Nations Storytelling is a definitive anthology of writing produced entirely by Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander creatives from Western Sydney and beyond. This powerful collection showcases forty-eight short stories, vignettes, poems, essays and artworks that have been developed over the past ten years as part of the nationally renowned literacy movement known as Sweatshop.

Featuring

Julie Bukari Webb, Jasmine Seymour, Steven Lindsay Ross, Jazz Money, Ali Murphy-Oates, Travis De Vries, Dr Jo Anne Rey, Yuin Mumbulla, Maxine Edwards, Samantha Hogg, Tahlia Blacklock, Kiah Bolt, Mikayla Kumar, Kane Harrington, Kiarna Evans, Mark Streeter, Courtney Miller, Hamani Tanginoa, Adina Aslett-Robertson, Shanae Hajsinger, Taylah Hansen, Tyreice Peachey, Brandon Gale, Marko Bogic, Trinity Wensley, Dominic Mills, Kasey Weightman, Trenton Fynn, Samantha Snedden, Teliah Edwards, Riley Kefford, Lachlan Holmes, Jamil Janif, Chelsea Randell, Colt Currell, Hayley Laws, Harrison Randell, Caitlyn Laws, Isaac Miller, Emma Hicks, Anneliese Joy, Phoebe Grainer, Afeni Tabuai-Salee and Riley Ingersole.

www.sweatshop.ws

ISBN: 978-0645448207

9 780645 448207